INTRODUCTION

This directory is a listing of the education officials in the Office of Education, the principal State and Territorial school officers, the executive officers of the State and Territorial library extension agencies, and the principal education officers of the Bureau of Indian Affairs, Department of the Interior. It has two major purposes: (1) To present a listing of professional personnel in the agencies concerned; and (2) To show the internal organization of the Office of Education and the State departments of education. It is hoped that the information in the Directory will be helpful in identifying the individuals in each agency with whom directory users may wish to communicate.

CRITERIA FOR LISTING

Use was made of the following criteria in determining what officers of the State departments of education should be included or excluded:

For inclusion:

1. All regularly employed professional personnel of the State department of education who report directly or through a superior to the chief State school officer and whose duties are statewide in scope.

For exclusion:

1. All field or regional personnel (supervisors, consultants, counselors, etc.) of the State department of education who are under the immediate supervision of an officer of the department other than the chief State school officer and whose duties encompass only a certain geographical portion of the State.

2. All personnel of State-operated schools, libraries, museums, radio stations, etc., which are administered through the State department of education, except the heads of such State-operated programs who provide a specialized statewide service to schools and school personnel or who are recognized as bureau or division heads in the department.

ARRANGEMENT OF DATA

In the listing of Principal State and Territorial School Officers, the data are arranged to reflect the organization of the departments of education through the indentation of official titles. The official titles of the chief school officer and all professional personnel under his immediate supervision form the basis for indentation. All professional personnel directly responsible to an official other than the chief school officer are listed under that official, and the relationship is shown by an appropriate indentation.

SPECIAL NOTE

THIS YEAR the Education Directory, Part 2, has been reevaluated, redesigned, and expanded. In the recent past, this directory listed (a) the county, supervisory district or union, administrative and division school superintendents for States having such school officers, and (b) superintendents of those city, town, and urban place school systems which in 1950 had a population of 2,500 or more. This procedure omitted the names of superintendents of many local independent school systems not in either of these categories. Furthermore, the use of the decennial census population figures meant that in recent directories of this series, some city, town, and urban place listings were as much as 9 or 10 years out of date. To eliminate these important gaps, it was decided to (a) list superintendents of all independent school systems regardless of population size and (b) use reasonably current school enrollment data rather than population figures, in order to present a more precise picture of the size of school systems involved.

This new list indicates that public school superintendents in 50 States, the District of Columbia, and Puerto Rico are administering school systems with a total enrollment of approximately 35.7 million pupils.

The church-related school lists this year have been increased from the membership of two to five nationwide church school organizations.

COUNTY, CITY, AND OTHER SCHOOL SUPERINTENDENCIES

Introduction

THIS DIRECTORY lists the superintendents of public school systems for all counties, supervisory districts or unions, regions, cities, towns, and other independent school systems in the United States and Puerto Rico. Included also are lists of superintendents or their counterparts in church-related schools of five church organizations which maintain schools on a regional or national basis.

Data included in this publication, with the exception of enrollment data, are based upon lists of superintendents of local schools supplied by the State departments of education. It is the objective of the U.S. Office of Education to maintain an accurate listing for directory users who wish to communicate with the school officers. To assure the greatest possible accuracy, these lists were sent back to the State departments of education for final review and verification as late as November 1960. The church-related school lists were supplied by the national offices of the five church organizations included.

TYPES OF SCHOOL SUPERINTENDENCIES INCLUDED

County and supervisory district or union superintendencies.—The county constitutes an area for public school administration in all of the States except Alaska, Delaware, Hawaii, New York, and the six New England States. There are two basic types of county school administration: the county-intermediate and the county-unit system.

The county-intermediate system is the traditional and the most prevalent form of county school administration. It exists in areas where the local independent school district prevails as the basic administrative unit, primarily in the Midwest and the Far West. The intermediate system is a unit of school administration that performs administrative and supervisory functions and provides supplementary educational services in a designated area comprised of two or more local administrative units. Under this type of organization, the county school superintendent generally serves as an intermediary between the basic local administrative units and the State department of education. However, the specific functions and degree of independence of this type of district vary from State to State. Many of the school systems are of the county-intermediate type in the following States:

Arizona	Michigan	Oklahoma
Arkansas	Minnesota	Oregon
California	Mississippi	Pennsylvania
Colorado	Missouri	South Dakota
Idaho	Montana	Texas
Illinois	Nebraska	Washington
Indiana	New Jersey	Wisconsin
Iowa	North Dakota	Wyoming
Kansas	Ohio

The county-unit school system, on the other hand, is a countywide, basic administrative unit. It is most prevalent in the Southeastern States, but is showing an increase in other States. County-unit school districts are of two types: complete and partial. A complete county-unit school system includes all public schools of the county. In this type of school system, the administrative policies are set by a single board and carried out by a single superintendent. There is but one educational budget and one center of administrative control in the entire unit. All public school systems in the States of Florida, Maryland (except the city of Baltimore, which is a separate political entity), Nevada, and West Virginia are organized exclusively on a complete county-unit system basis. Many of the counties in the States of Alabama, Georgia, Kentucky, Louisiana, Mississippi, North Carolina, South Carolina, and Utah operate a complete county-unit system; the remaining counties in these States have partial county-unit systems.

A partial county-unit school system includes all schools of a county with the exception of one or more independent districts, generally the school system of a city or town, located within the county. One example of a partial county-unit school system is that of Jefferson County, Kentucky, which administers all the public schools within the county except for the schools of the city of Louisville and the town of Anchorage, each of which is an independnent school system.

"Supervisory district" or "union" is the term for the intermediate type of school district in the New England States. Those New England town school systems which are too small, individually, to employ a superintendent full time, form parts of supervisory unions consisting of two or more towns. Such unions employ a single superintendent to serve all the towns in the union. Similarly, the

New York State school systems, which are outside of city or village districts, have combined to form supervisory school districts, each of which employs a full-time superintendent of the supervisory district.

The town or city organization (and the more recently organized School Administrative District in Maine) constitutes the basic unit for school administration in New England.

Independent and other school superintendencies.—"Independent school superintendents" are those through whom direct contact is made concerning the public school districts of a particular State.

The school systems of all cities, towns, villages, boroughs, consolidations, and jointures that are independent systems are listed in this directory under the county in which they are located.

The school systems in cities or towns not listed in this directory operate under the supervision or jurisdiction of the superintendent of the county or union in which they are located. Directory users who wish to contact school officials in these districts should write to the county or union superintendents.

In the State of Virginia, a "division," the official designation for a school district in the State, normally consists of either a single county or a single city. In some instances, however, a division consists of two counties or a county and a city.

In Utah, although most of the school districts are organized and administered as complete county-unit systems, some counties are divided into 2 or 3 districts, each of which has its own school superintendent.

In Delaware, any administrative function not discharged by the local school district is performed by the State department of education.

Superintendents of church-related schools.—These superintendents, area directors, and diocesan school officers, with their addresses, are listed as follows:

Catholic parochial schools—by archdiocese and diocese.
Jewish schools (area directors)—by city area agency.
Lutheran parochial schools—by supervisory district.
Protestant Episcopal schools—by diocese.
Seventh-Day Adventist schools—by union or local conference.

SOURCE OF ENROLLMENT DATA

Enrollment data for individual school systems were obtained by a mail survey conducted from April to June 1960 by the Bureau of the Census at the request of the U.S. Office of Education. In this survey each county superintendent was asked to bring the 1957 Census of Governments[1] listing of school systems in his county up to date. The data shown here for public enrollment are based on a summation of enrollment figures obtained for individual school systems by this mail survey. Officials were asked to report the total number of pupils enrolled in each system as of October 31, 1959, or the nearest later date for which enrollment information was available. Although most of the replies gave information for an October or late September date, reports of enrollment as of the other dates in the 1959–60 school year were also accepted and used. Where enrollment data were not available from the census survey, 1958–59 or later enrollment data available from the State school directories were used.

When the lists were sent out for final review and verification before the printing deadline, several States included enrollment data as of September 1960. Where this is the case, it is indicated at the beginning of the State list.

ARRANGEMENT OF DATA

1. States are listed in alphabetical order.
2. Within each State, counties are listed alphabetically, and the information appears in the ensuing order after the county name:
   a. Number of school systems under the jurisdiction or supervision of the county or union superintendent (in parentheses).
   b. Combined enrollment in these systems (in parentheses).
   c. Name of the county superintendent.
   d. Mailing address of the county school system.
3. Independent school systems, located within the county but generally independent of the county superintendent, are listed alphabetically within the county and are indented one space to the right. The following information for these systems appears after the name of the independent city or town:
   a. Enrollment (in parentheses).
   b. Name of superintendent.
   c. Post office address (if different from name of district).

   Example: In the State of Indiana—

   BARTHOLOMEW (9) (2,391)—Joseph S. Foust, Columbus
   Columbus (6,617)—Clarence Robbins
   Flatrock-Hawcreek Cons. (921)—Lloyd Shoyer, Hope

[1] 1957 Census of Governments, Vol. I, No. 1, U.S. Bureau of the Census, Washington, D.C., 1957.

Exceptions to this arrangement of data are found in those States that do not maintain the office of county superintendent of schools or any type of county school organization. The type of school organization in States in this latter category is explained in the paragraph preceding the particular State's listing.

In cases where urban schools in New England are administered by superintendents of supervisory or superintendency districts or unions, the number of the union or the name of the district is given.

Some States have separate districts for elementary and for secondary schools; others maintain elementary districts only, with a separate high school district encompassing a larger area, such as the county. Where this is true, the districts are designated as "Elem." or "High," and the superintendent for each is listed.

[1] Includes 50 States, District of Columbia, and Puerto Rico.

[2] The county-intermediate superintendency is a unit of school administration that performs administrative and supervisory functions and provides supplementary educational services in a designated area comprised of two or more basic administrative units. In these superintendencies, the county school superintendent generally serves as an intermediary between the basic local administrative units and the State department of education.

[3] The supervisory district or superintendency union is the name used for the intermediate type of school district in the New England States and New York State. Those town school systems which are too small, individually, to employ a superintendent full time, form supervisory unions consisting of two or more towns employing a single superintendent. The regional high school superintendencies are comprised of two or more towns in a region employing a superintendent jointly to administer only secondary education within their boundaries. (See footnote 7.)

[4] The county-unit superintendency is a countywide basic administrative unit of which there are two variations, complete and partial. A complete county-unit superintendency includes all the public schools of the county. A partial county-unit superintendency includes all the schools of a county with the exception of one or more independent superintendencies or districts. Both variations are included here.

[5] The independent school system superintendencies are those with which to communicate directly rather than through an intermediary to contact a public school system of a particular State. Included are the independent school systems of cities, towns, villages, boroughs, consolidations, jointures and special districts.

[6] The county superintendents perform mainly a service function in these counties. Enrollment data are listed under the independent school system superintendencies of the counties involved.

[7] Includes regional superintendencies, as follows: Connecticut—8, Massachusetts—24, New Jersey—31, and Rhode Island—2.

[8] Enrollment data as of September 1960.

[9] Enrollment data not available before printing deadline.

SOURCE OF ENROLLMENT DATA: U.S. Office of Education-Bureau of the Census Survey conducted April to June 1960. Where enrollment data were not available from this survey, 1958–59 or later enrollment data from the State school directories were used.

School Superintendencies, by State

(Where the name of the school district or system is the same as that of the post office address, the post office address is not repeated.)

ALABAMA

County and Independent School Superintendencies

There are 114 school superintendencies in the State, including 35 complete county-unit and 32 partial county-unit superintendencies. The remaining 47 are independent city or town school superintendencies located within the 32 partial county-unit counties.

ARKANSAS

County and Independent School Supervisors

The school district administrators are referred to as school supervisors rather than school superintendents. There are 457 school supervisors in the State: 40 are county-intermediate supervisors, 35 are partial county-unit supervisors, and 382 are independent city or town supervisors. In the 40 county-intermediate counties, the supervisor performs mainly a service function. Where this is true, it is indicated by (0) (0) : zero districts, zero enrollment.

County and Independent School Superintendencies

There are 917 school superintendencies in the State, including 52 county-intermediate superintendencies, 4 complete county-unit superintendencies, and 2 partial county-unit superintendencies. The remaining 859 are independent city or town superintendencies. The superintendents in 51 of the 52 county-intermediate superintendencies perform all administrative functions for areas comprised of two or more local districts, each district operating its schools independently. For example, in the parentheses before Superintendent LaFleche's name are shown the number of districts whose functions he administers in Alameda County (9) and the total number of pupils enrolled in these districts (635). The one remaining county superintendent performs mainly a service function, indicated by (0) (0) : zero districts, zero enrollment data.

Technically, all school districts in this State are under the county superintendent. However, there are "unified school districts" which are largely self-contained, having elementary, high school, and junior college levels within the organization. In other cases, the elementary, high school, and junior college districts exist separately. Such districts are designated as "Elem." or "High"; junior college districts are not included here because they are listed in part 3 of the Education Directory.

COLORADO

County and Independent School Superintendencies

There are 286 school superintendencies in the State: 56 county-intermediate superintendencies, 6 partial county-unit superintendencies, one complete county-unit superintendency, and 223 independent city or town superintendencies.

The superintendents in 22 of the 56 county-intermediate superintendencies perform all administrative functions for areas comprised of two or more local districts, each district operating its schools independently. For example, in the parentheses before Superintendent Heid's name are shown the number of districts whose functions she administers in Adams County (3) and the total number of pupils enrolled in these districts (456).

In the remaining 34 counties, the county superintendent performs mainly a service function. Where this is true, it is indicated by (0) (0) : zero districts, zero enrollment data.

CONNECTICUT

Supervisory Union, Regional High School, and Independent Superintendencies

There are 125 school superintendencies in the State: 14 union superintendencies, 8 regional high school superintendencies, and 103 independent city or town superintendencies. There are no county school superintendents in the State. A number of towns have jointly employed a superintendent to administer all the schools within their boundaries. These combinations (supervisory unions) do not have a name or number; therefore, all town schools administered by the same superintendent are listed alphabetically before the superintendent's name. The 8 regional high school superintendencies are listed by number.

IDAHO

County, Joint, and Independent Superintendencies

The office of County School Superintendent has almost been abolished in Idaho. Of the 44 counties in the State, 4 have superintendents and 2 have clerks of the county boards of education administering the schools in the nonreorganized areas in their particular counties. All six of these officers serve on a part-time basis. In the other 115 school districts, 43 are joint and 72 are independent city or town superintendencies. The superintendents of the 4 county superintendencies perform all administrative functions for areas comprised of two or more local districts, each district operating its schools independently. For example, in the parentheses before Superintendent Perry's name are shown the number of districts whose functions she administers in Canyon County (17) and the total number of pupils enrolled in these districts (1,202).

ILLINOIS

County and Independent School Superintendencies

There are 1,667 school superintendencies in the State: 93 county-intermediate superintendencies, 9 partial county-unit superintendencies, 1,565 city or town superintendencies. The superintendents in 15 of the 93 county-intermediate superintendencies perform all administrative functions for areas comprised of two or more local districts, each district operating its schools independently. For example, in the parentheses before Supt. Dennison's name are shown the number of districts whose functions he administers in Henderson County (4) and the total number of pupils enrolled in these district (198). In the remaining 78 counties, the county superintendent performs mainly a service function. Where this is true, it is indicated by (0) (0) : zero districts, zero enrollment data.

INDIANA

County, Joint, Consolidated, Metropolitan, and Independent School Superintendencies

There are 296 school superintendencies in the State, including 85 county-intermediate and 3 partial county-unit superintendencies. Of the remaining 208, 5 are joint, 32 are consolidated, 24 are metropolitan, and 146 are independent city or town superintendencies. The superintendents of the 85 county-intermediate superintendencies perform all administrative functions for areas comprised of two or more local districts, each district operating its schools independently. For example, in the parentheses before Superintendent Feuerbach's name are shown the number of districts whose functions he administers in Allen County (12) and the total number of pupils enrolled in his districts (5,832).

[1] County school corporation.

[2] The office of county school superintendent has been abolished. All schools in this county are under the supervision of the superintendents of the local school districts in which they are located.

IOWA

County and Independent School Superintendencies

There are 658 school superintendencies in the State: 79 county-intermediate superintendencies, 20 partial county-unit superintendencies, and 559 independent city or town superintendencies. The superintendents in 54 of the 79 county-intermediate superintendencies perform all administrative functions for areas comprised of two or more local districts, each district operating its schools independently. For example, in the parentheses before Superintendent Southard's name are shown the number of districts whose functions he administers in Benton County (4) and the total number of pupils enrolled in these districts (266). In the remaining 25 counties, the county superintendent performs mainly a service function. Where this is true, it is indicated by (0) (0) : zero districts, zero enrollment data. All enrollment data are as of September 1960.

County and Independent School Superintendencies

There are 449 school superintendencies in the State: 103 county-intermediate superintendencies, 2 partial county-unit superintendencies, and 344 independent city or town superintendencies. The superintendents of the 103 county superintendencies perform all administrative functions for areas comprised of two or more local districts, each district operating its schools independently. For example, in the parentheses before Superintendent Sage's name are shown the number of districts whose functions she administers in Allen County (17) and the total number of pupils enrolled in these districts (963).

Supervisory Union, Administrative, and Independent School Superintendencies

There are 121 school superintendencies in the State: 92 supervisory union, 16 administrative, and 13 independent city superintendencies. There are no county school superintendents in the State. The general administration of public schools is under the supervision of a supervisory union, administrative, or independent city superintendent. In this State, two or more towns combine to form union superintendencies, each of which employs a superintendent who has jurisdiction over all schools in the union. Each union is designated by number. Each administrative superintendency is designated by number. Enrollment data are as of September 1960.

County and Independent School Superintendencies

There are 757 school superintendencies in the State: 79 county-intermediate superintendencies, 4 partial county-unit superintendencies, and 674 independent city or town superintendencies. The superintendents in 74 of the 79 county-intermediate superintendencies perform all administrative functions for areas comprised of two or more local districts, each district operating its schools independently. For example, in the parentheses before Superintendent Erickson's name are shown the number of districts whose functions he administers in Alcona county (3) and the total number of pupils enrolled in these districts (1,298). In the remaining 5 counties, the county superintendent performs mainly a service function. Where this is true, it is indicated by (0) (0) : zero districts, zero enrollment data.

MINNESOTA

County, Independent, Special, Common, and Unorganized Territory School Superintendencies

There are 562 school superintendencies in the State, including 77 county-intermediate, 2 complete county-unit, 8 partial county-unit, and 463 city or town superintendencies. Of the remaining 12 included in this list, 6 are special, 3 are common and 3 are unorganized territory superintendencies.[1]

The superintendents in 73 of the 77 county-intermediate superintendencies perform all administrative functions for areas comprised of two or more local districts, each district operating its schools independently. For example, in the parentheses before Superintendent Newstrom's name are shown the number of districts whose functions she administers in Aitkin County (14) and the total number of pupils enrolled in these districts (403). In the remaining 4 counties, the county superintendent performs mainly a service function. Where this is true, it is indicated by (0) (0); zero districts, zero enrollment data.

[1] "Unorganized territory" in Minnesota is that portion of a county not included in organized districts, and includes territory heretofore ceded to the U.S. Government. Unorganized territory is a public corporation. The three counties having unorganized territory areas are Cass, Koochiching, and St. Louis.

[2] This school officer serves as county school administrator in addition to superintendent of an independent district.

County and Independent School Superintendencies

There are 163 school superintendencies in the State, including 30 complete county-unit, 40 partial county-unit, and 12 county-intermediate superintendencies. The remaining superintendencies listed show that 29 are consolidated and 52 are municipal separate school superintendencies. The county superintendent in the 12 county-intermediate counties in the State performs mainly a service function. Where this is true, it is indicated by (0) (0); zero districts, zero enrollment data.

County and Independent School Superintendencies

There are 666 school superintendencies in the State: 102 county-intermediate superintendencies, 12 partial county-unit superintendencies, and 552 independent city or town superintendencies. The superintendents in 77 of the 102 county-intermediate superintendencies perform all administrative functions for areas comprised of two or more local districts, each district operating its schools independently. For example, in parentheses before Superintendent Purvis' name are shown the number of districts whose functions he administers in Adair County (36) and the total number of pupils enrolled in these districts (504). In the remaining 25 counties, the county superintendent performs mainly a service function. Where this is true, it is indicated by (0) (0) : zero districts, zero enrollment data.

County and Independent School Superintendencies

There are 245 school superintendencies in the State: 56 county-intermediate superintendencies, 9 county high school superintendencies, and 180 independent city or town superintendencies. The 9 county high school superintendencies are supervised by principals. Superintendents of the 56 county-intermediate superintendencies perform all administrative functions for areas comprised of two or more local districts, each district operating its schools independently. For example, in the parentheses before Superintendent Stroeder's name are shown the number of districts whose functions she administers in Beaverhead County (16) and the total number of pupils enrolled in these districts (203).

NEW HAMPSHIRE

Supervisory Union and Independent School Superintendencies

There are 48 school superintendencies in the State: 38 supervisory union and 10 independent city superintendencies. There are no county school superintendents in the State. The general administratoin of public schools is under the supervision of a supervisory union or independent city superintendent. In this State, two or more towns combine to form a supervisory union superintendency; they employ a superintendent who has jurisdiction over all schools in the union. Each union listed is designated by number.

County, Regional, and Independent School Superintendencies

There are 337 school superintendencies in the State: 21 county-intermediate, 31 regional high school, and 285 independent city or town superintendencies. The superintendents of the 21 county-intermediate superintendencies perform all administrative functions for areas comprised of two or more local districts, each district operating its school independently. For example, in the parentheses before Superintendent Helmbold's name are shown the number of districts whose functions he administers in Atlantic County (9) and the total number of pupils enrolled in these districts (2,738).

County and Independent School Superintendencies

There are 598 school superintendencies in the State: 77 county-intermediate superintendencies and 521 independent city or town superintendencies. The superintendents of the 77 county-intermediate superintendencies perform all administrative functions for areas comprised of two or more local districts, each district operating its schools independently. For example, in the parentheses before Superintendent Hallford's name are shown the number of districts whose functions he administers in Adair County (28) and the total number of pupils enrolled in these districts (1,806).

[1] The joint school plan used in Pennsylvania represents a contractual relationship between two or more school districts. As legal entities, school districts can by contract enter into an arrangement called a "jointure," which makes possible the pooling of resources by two or more districts to strengthen educational program offerings for increased numbers of pupils. A central unit for administration of all the district schools in a jointure is created under this plan. Since it is not a legal entity, a jointure may be terminated at the will of the contracting districts.

County and Independent School Superintendencies

There are 319 school superintendencies in the State: 64 county-intermediate, 3 county-unit, and 252 independent city or town superintendencies. The superintendents of the 64 county-intermediate superintendencies perform all administrative functions for areas comprised of two or more local districts, each district operating its schools independently. For example, in the parentheses before Superintendent Woodall's name are shown the number of districts whose functions he administers in Aurora County (15) and the total number of pupils enrolled in these districts (382).

TEXAS

County and Independent School Superintendencies

There are 1,152 school superintendencies in the State: 197 county-intermediate superintendencies, 47 partial county-unit superintendencies, 10 county-unit superintendencies, and 898 city or town superintendencies. The superintendents in 128 of the 197 county-intermediate superintendencies perform all administrative functions for areas comprised of two or more local districts, each district operating its schools independently. For example, in the parentheses before Superintendent Johnson's name are shown the number of districts whose functions he administers in Anderson County (7) and the total number of pupils enrolled in these districts (1,219). In the remaining 69 counties, the county superintendent performs mainly a service function. Where this is true, it is indicated by (0) (0) : zero districts, zero enrollment data.

County and Independent School Superintendencies

There are 40 school superintendencies in the State: 22 complete, and 2 partial county-unit superintendencies, 11 county district superintendencies, and 5 independent city superintendencies. The counties of Juab, Salt Lake, Sanpete, and Utah, divided into 2 county districts, and Summit County, divided into 3 county districts, do not maintain an office of county superintendent. However, each of these county districts has its own superintendent, who is listed under the county in which his office is located.

Supervisory Union and Independent School Superintendencies

There are 54 school superintendencies in the State: 44 supervisory union and 10 independent city superintendencies. There are no county school superintendents in the State. The general administration of public schools is under the jurisdiction of a supervisory union or independent city superintendent. In this State, two or more towns combine to form a supervisory union superintendency, each of which employs a superintendent who has jurisdiction over all schools in the union. Each supervisory union is designated by name and is listed under the county in which it is located.

County and Independent School Superintendencies

There are 303 school superintendencies in the State: 34 county-intermediate, 5 partial county-unit, and 264 independent city or town superintendencies. The superintendents in 28 of the 34 county-intermediate superintendencies perform all administrative functions for areas comprised of two or more local districts, each district operating its schools independently. For example, in the parentheses before Superintendent Kinkade's name are shown the number of districts whose functions he administers in Chelan County (4) and the total number of pupils enrolled in these districts (221). In the remaining 6 counties, the county superintendent performs mainly a service function. Where this is true, it is indicated by (0) (0): zero districts, zero enrollment data.

WYOMING

County and Independent School Superintendencies

There are 107 school superintendencies in the State: 21 county-intermediate, 2 partial county-unit, and 84 independent city or town superintendencies. The superintendents in 18 of the 21 county-intermediate superintendencies perform all administrative functions for areas comprised of two or more local districts, each district operating its schools independently. For example, in the parentheses before Superintendent Nelson's name are shown the number of districts whose functions she administers in Albany County (14) and the total number of pupils enrolled in these districts (199). In the remaining 3 counties, the county superintendent performs mainly a service function. Where this is true, it is indicated by (0) (0): zero districts, zero enrollment data.

Special Notice

IN THE UNITED STATES no reputable institution of higher education confers degrees solely on the basis of correspondence study. The lax chartering laws in some States permit the existence of correspondence schools whose practices amount virtually to the sale of degrees. Such organizations are commonly referred to as degree mills. The Secretary of Health, Education, and Welfare has defined a degree mill as "an organization that awards degrees without requiring courses of instruction that all reputable educational institutions require before conferring degrees." Most of these degree mills operate solely by mail. In many cases staffs and plants do not even exist.

Degree mills are a serious threat to American educational standards in several ways. First, they damage, by misunderstanding in the public mind, the legitimate and reputable correspondence schools which are filling an important and necessary role by providing correspondence study in the areas of vocational and adult education. Correspondence courses are also offered by some colleges and universities. But legitimate correspondence schools do not award degrees, and colleges and universities do not award degrees on the basis of correspondence courses alone. Second, degree mills defraud those who honestly believe that they have received recognition from a legitimate institution of higher education. Third, they lower American prestige abroad by deceiving foreign students. They cause legitimate American educational degrees to be undervalued because of the confusion overseas between bona fide institutions of higher education in the United States and the degree mills.

In view of the inadequacy and utter worthlessness of degree mills and their disservice to American higher education, the U.S. Office of Education strongly urges the public to be on guard against organizations advertising degrees based solely on correspondence study. Caution should also be exercised in evaluating degrees and other credentials, to ascertain whether or not they have been obtained from degree mills.

INSTITUTIONS OF HIGHER EDUCATION—INTRODUCTION

CRITERIA FOR LISTING IN THIS DIRECTORY

INSTITUTIONS reported to the Office of Education as being in operation during 1959–60, offering at least a 2-year program of college-level studies in residence, willing to submit regularly and promptly the information required for listing, and meeting the criteria stated below, are included in this directory.

The criteria for listing in the directory are as follows:

1. Institutions accredited or approved by a nationally recognized accrediting agency, a State department of education, a State university, or operating under public control, are eligible for inclusion.
2. Institutions not meeting requirements of criterion 1 are eligible for inclusion if their credits have been and are accepted as if coming from an accredited institution by not fewer than three accredited institutions.

CLASSIFICATION OF INSTITUTIONS

Institutions are classified by highest level of offering and by type of program.

The following categories have been established to designate institutions by highest level of training:

I. 2 but less than 4 years of work beyond the 12th grade—includes junior colleges, technical institutes, and normal schools offering at least a 2-year program of college-level studies;

II. Only the bachelor's and/or first professional degree—includes those institutions offering courses of studies leading to the customary bachelor of arts or bachelor of science degree, and all those degrees which entitle the possessor to enter the profession indicated; e.g., doctor of medicine, bachelor of pharmacy, or bachelor of science in engineering;

III. Master's and/or second professional degree—includes those institutions offering the customary first graduate degree, and any degree earned in the same field after the first professional degree, or after a bachelor's degree in that field; e.g., the degree of electrical engineer, earned after the bachelor of engineering, or the degree of doctor of science of law earned after the bachelor of laws degree;

IV. Doctor of philosophy and equivalent degrees; and

V. Other (explained by footnote).

The designations of institutions by type of program are as follows:

a. Terminal-occupational (below bachelor's degree)—to represent a program not extending beyond the 14th or 15th grade, designed to prepare directly for an occupation, and not intended to prepare for advanced study;

b. Liberal arts and general—including those institutions offering a 4-year program leading to the bachelor's degree;

c. Liberal arts and general, and terminal-occupational—for institutions offering programs described by a and b above;

d. Primarily teacher preparatory;

e. Liberal arts and general, and teacher preparatory;

f. Liberal arts and general, teacher preparatory, and terminal-occupational;

g. Professional or technical—including those institutions offering a program of occupational preparation (excluding teacher preparatory);

h. Professional or technical, and teacher preparatory;

i. Professional or technical, and terminal-occupational;

j. Liberal arts and general with 1 or 2 professional schools; and

k. Liberal arts and general with 3 or more professional schools—including institutions organized as universities.

ARRANGEMENT OF DATA

An institution is listed in this directory under the State in which its post office is located. A branch institution is listed as a unit of the parent institution, with a cross reference to facilitate finding of the data. Arrangement of the data shown is uniform as follows:

For institutions organized as universities:

Name of institution, location (accreditation, control, student body, calendar system, code representing classification of institution by level of offering and type of program, enrollment).

Name of officers as follows:

President or chancellor.
Dean.
Chief business officer.
Registrar and admissions officer.
Librarian.
Chief personnel officer and dean of men and dean of women.
Dean or director of each professional school or college.[1]
Dean of graduate school.
Director of summer session.

For other institutions of higher education having an enrollment of more than 200:

All data as above, except those relating to professional schools.

For institutions with enrollments of 200 or fewer:

Chief executive officer.
Chief academic officer.
Chief business officer.
Registrar or equivalent officer.

[1] Some universities maintain departments which are the equivalent of schools in other universities, but such departments are not listed unless they are separately organized with a dean or director in charge.

ABBREVIATIONS AND SYMBOLS

In parentheses immediately following the name and location of an institution, the abbreviations and symbols separated by semicolons indicate six facts:

1. Accreditation of the institution by one or more of the nationwide or regional accrediting associations.

THIS DIRECTORY contains information based upon replies to a questionnaire sent by the Office of Education to education associations and organizations. The fact that an association or organization is listed in the Directory does not imply that the Office of Education either recommends or evaluates it.

The first item in a listing is the organization's name, followed by the address of headquarters, if any; the second, name and address of the head (president, chairman, director, etc.); the third, name and address of the secretary; the fourth, expiration date of president's term; the fifth, title(s) of the official periodic publication(s) and frequency of issue. If no address appears for the head or the secretary, it is the same as that for the organization.

The frequency of publication is shown by abbreviations: an. (annual); bien. (biennial); bm. (bimonthly); bw. (biweekly); ir. (irregular); m. (monthly); nos. (number issued each year); q. (quarterly); sa. (semiannual); sm. (semimonthly); trien. (triennial); w. (weekly).

NATIONAL AND REGIONAL EDUCATION ASSOCIATIONS

THE FIRST SECTION covers, in a single alphabet, the following types of associations: (1) associations of educators and other persons directly concerned with schools and colleges; (2) community health, service, or social welfare groups that relate certain of their activities to school and college programs; (3) historical, learned, professional, research and scientific organizations growing out of or related to school and college activities; (4) library and museum associations; (5) organizations sponsoring youth group activities in schools and colleges or supplementing school or college programs.
